

Further Education Provider Register (England)

Purpose of this FE Network Register

Cognition Learning Group recognises the complexity of the make up of the FE Sector. Afterall, there are a wide variety of different providers specialising in different areas or training opportunities. Cognition Education have compiled this FE Network Register to help the sector or those looking for a provider to see what is available in their regions.

In addition to Cognition Learning Group's mentoring professional development programmes, FE providers from 31 August 2023 will now be able to apply for funding to form 'mentoring networks' with other FE providers. With this, providers will be able to access the mentoring network grant (£1,500 per mentoring network), which we feel will aid in providers being able to establish a robust and lasting culture of mentoring within FE organisations and a chance to work with others providers, and therefore, strengthening mentoring within the FE sector. To learn more about this, please click here.

Below you can see the network register which shows all colleges in England (correct as of May 2023), as well as their type and region. At present this register only contains colleges and was created using readily available information created by the Association of Colleges and Education and Skills Funding Agency. We are keen to build on this FE Network Register by adding details of other FE provider types such as independent training providers, apprenticeship providers, local authority adult education providers, and third sector FE providers.

If you would like to be added to this list for people to find out about your organisation or to open up to potential networking opportunities, then please contact us at tmpenquiries@cognitioneducation.com.

This document is accurate as of May 2023. Please be advised that this is a live document which will be reviewed and updated frequently.
